

Jamie Raganyi

Technical Services Manager

I joined LifeWise in early 2019 as a Food Scientist and I am responsible for leading regulatory, quality, and R&D for the company.

Prior to LifeWise, I was in Quality Management and R&D at a company that produces seasonings, flavors, and flavor modifiers. During my 11 years there, I picked up a vast amount of knowledge and skills.

I obtained my ASQ Certified Quality Technician (CQT) and IFT Certified Food Scientist (CFS) credentials, along with earning my MS in Food Science through K-State. I am also a graduate of UW-Milwaukee, receiving a BS in Biology and certificate in Forensic Science.

I live in Colgate, WI with Nick, Alexandra, Ellie, and Zoe (husband, daughter, dog, and cat).

Outside of work, most of my time is spent playing with my daughter, cooking, reading, and caring for our home. I recently became a certified PADI scuba diver and took my first big dive off the island of Cozumel on my birthday. I love to travel and have been many places, but I still want to see so much more.

